Travel Alert remains for southeast ND; No Travel Advisory LIFTED for northeast ND; Travel Alert for Devils Lake area no longer in effect

The Travel Alert for southeast North Dakota remains in effect this morning due to strong winds causing reduced visibility making travel challenging. Communities and areas included in the Travel Alert are Fargo, Hillsboro, Casselton and Wahpeton and surrounding areas. A Travel Alert means conditions are such that motorists can still travel in these areas, but should be advised of rapidly changing conditions. Motorists are encouraged to reduce speeds and drive according to the conditions.

The North Dakota Department of Transportation and the North Dakota Highway Patrol have LIFTED the NO TRAVEL ADVISORY that was issued for northeastern North Dakota which included the Grand Forks, Cavalier, Drayton, Grafton, and surrounding areas.

The Travel Alert for the Devils Lake area of north central North Dakota is no longer in effect for the communities of Devils Lake, Cando, Rugby, Langdon and surrounding areas.

All travelers are encouraged to monitor road conditions as weather conditions occur and use caution while traveling. For road information, call 511 from any type of phone or go to the website: www.dot.nd.gov.

The NDDOT works hard to keep travelers informed of road conditions. However, the road conditions are not reported 24 hours a day but updated every day from 5 a.m. to 10 p.m. Central Time, including holidays. It's important to remember that the conditions may vary from what is being reported.
